With regards to the arrest of a number of Bahais in the city of Shiraz, the High Council for Human Rights -- affiliated to the judiciary of the Islamic Republic of Iran -- has approached all pertinent judicial authorities and courts.

According to information received from the province of Fars' office of the prosecutor general, Messrs. Nima Dehghan Manshadi, Sum Jaber, Payam Tasleme, Sina Sarekhanee, Rasheed Yazdani, Fareed Emadee, Iman Rahmat Panah, Homan Zarei Kadoie, Mohammad Sadegh Nooriyan, Kavos Sameme, Kambiz Habibi, and Mss. Mojdeh Falah, Mojghan Emadi, Yekta Fahandaj Sahadi and Samira Momtazeyan were arrested in February and January of 2012 and charged with organization, operation and membership in groups that intended to disturb national security. As such, and after the completion of preliminary investigations, they were brought before Shiraz' general and revolution Courts. Sometime later all defendants -- with the exception of Messrs. Nima Dehghan Manshadi, Fareed Emadee, Homan Zarei Kadoie, and Mohammad Sadegh Nooriyan -- were released on bail.
