2. The head of an administrative organ shall set the term of designation of up to 5 years (renewable) and revoke the designation before the expiration date as soon as the designated information is found to no longer meet the requirements for designation.

3. The term of designation shall not exceed 30 years in total unless the head of the administrative organ obtains the approval of the Cabinet by providing compelling reasons for the extension of the term in order to ensure the safety of the state and the people. Even in this case, the head may not extend the term when it exceeds 60 years in total except for such cases as involving information on cryptology and human intelligence sources.

4. The head of an administrative organ shall take necessary measures to protect SDS including limiting the range of officials who handle SDS and putting classification markings on documents containing SDS.
Overview of the Act on SDS Protection: 2. Security Clearance

1. Limitations on Access to SDS

Access to SDS shall be limited to government personnel, employees of GoJ contractors and prefectural police officers who, following the security clearance process, are identified as not risking unauthorized disclosure of SDS.

* The heads of administrative organs, Ministers, Deputy Chief Cabinet Secretaries, Special Advisors to the Prime Minister, Senior Vice-Ministers, Parliamentary Secretaries and other executives specified in a Cabinet Order based on their duties, etc. shall be allowed to have access to SDS without undergoing the security clearance process.

 Those receiving SDS for the sake of the public interest (see page 3) shall not be required to undergo the security clearance process.

2. Adjudicators

Heads of administrative organs (or chiefs of prefectural police headquarters)

3. Examinees

Those who are expected to handle SDS in duty among government personnel, employees of GoJ contractors or prefectural police officers

4. Matters for Investigation

(1) Involvement in Designated Harmful Activities and terrorism
(2) Criminal and disciplinary records
(3) Records of abuse of information
(4) Misuse of drugs and their influence
(5) Mental health
(6) Abuse of alcohol
(7) Financial records including credit standing

* With respect to investigations regarding (1), the scope of investigation into examinees’ relatives (spouses, parents, children and siblings, as well as spouses’ parents and children) and cohabitants shall be limited to name, date of birth, nationality and address.

5. Procedures

To the extent necessary for the procedures, (i) Ask questions to the examinees and those concerned including their supervisors and colleagues; (ii) Request that examinees submit materials; (iii) Make inquiries with public or private organizations

Determine whether the examinees are deemed at risk of unauthorized disclosure of SDS

Notify the examinees of the results

Respond to the examinees’ complaints on the procedures

6. Ban on Use and Provision of Information Obtained in the Procedures for Any Other Purposes

(1) Refusal to undergo the security clearance procedures
(2) Results of the procedures
(3) Personal information obtained in the procedures

shall not be used or provided for any other purposes except for cases where the examinees are alleged to warrant a disciplinary punishment under the National Public Service Act, etc.
Overview of the Act on SDS Protection: 3. Provision of SDS

1 Provision of SDS to Other Administrative Organs Based on Necessity for National Security

(1) The two ministries shall consult with each other on the range of personnel handling SDS and other necessary measures to protect SDS.

(2) Provision of SDS based on necessity for national security

(3) Head of Ministry B shall take necessary measures to protect SDS and determine the personnel authorized to handle SDS.

* The Commissioner-General of the National Police Agency shall, when providing prefectural police with SDS, give instructions to the recipient police on necessary measures to protect SDS.

2 Provision of SDS to GoJ Contractors Based on Special Necessity for National Security

(1) Contracts shall have provisions for the range of employees of contractors handling SDS and other necessary measures to protect SDS.

(2) Provision of SDS based on special necessity for national security

(3) Contractors shall take necessary measures to protect SDS and determine the employees authorized to handle SDS.

3 Other Cases of SDS Provision for the Sake of the Public Interest

(1) Provision of SDS to foreign governments or international organizations where necessary measures to protect SDS are taken

(2) Provision of SDS to undisclosed reviews or research by the Diet, criminal investigations and other activities for the sake of special public interest on condition that measures to protect SDS are taken and that the head of the providing administrative organ confirms such provision would not cause severe damage to the national security of Japan

(3) Presentation of SDS to courts in accordance with Paragraph 6, Article 223 of the Code of Civil Procedure, or to review boards for examinations in accordance with Paragraph 1, Article 9 of the Act on the Establishment of the Information Disclosure and Personal Information Protection Review Board (the so-called “in-camera” procedure)
Overview of the Act on SDS Protection: 4. Appropriate Implementation

1. Uniform guidelines concerning SDS designation, etc. shall be determined by the Cabinet after taking input from an expert panel comprised of specialists in the protection of information on national security, information disclosure, management of public documents and archives, etc.

2. The Prime Minister may order the head of an administrative organ to improve the implementation of the act in accordance with the guidelines.

3. The government shall submit to the Diet and make publicly available an annual report on the implementation of this act, with opinions of the expert panel attached to the report.

4. Deliberations will take place to ensure appropriate implementation of the act and necessary steps, including the establishment of an independent and impartial organ charged with reviewing implementation, etc., shall be implemented based on the results of these deliberations.
